And Whereas, Post Graduate Government College for Girls, Sector-11, Chandigarh

The Post Graduate Govt. College for Girls, Sector-11, was established in 1956 and is one of Chandigarh's oldest educational institutions, being only a few years older than the city itself. Starting small, it has grown over the years to become a large entity. With a long history of nearly 60 years behind it the college has accumulated many layers of richness and recall. From this vantage of age, we can look back with pride at the many generations that entered the portals of this institution, filled its classrooms, performed in its auditorium, played on its fields and then left to take their place of pride in the world. They are our strength and also the validation of our existence.

A college campus is a young and exciting place to be in. And we educationists are invigorated by the sheen energy that surrounds us. We watch young girls coming to us from different parts of the country and it is indeed a very fulfilling experience to be a part of their journey of growth, both intellectual and emotional. We are with them when they arrive, hesitant and groping. And we then bid them adieu when they leave us as confident young women. It is a role we perform over and over again but it never palls on us and we all, in this institution, look forward to a future filled with many more generations of bright, young girls stepping out into the world and doing us proud.
