Panjab University, Chandigarh
20th September, 2024

The Department of Zoology organized a visit to the Centre Instrumentation Laboratory (CIL) and Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh for the students of M.Sc. II as a part of their curriculum on 20th September, 2024. In CIL, students were made given the demonstration of principal, construction, sample preparation and working of HighResolution Transmission Electron Microscope (HR-TEM) and Scanning Electron Microscope (SEM) highlighting the importance of steps like gold plating or sputtering, critical dry point etc. In Department of Zoology instruments like PCR, Ultracentrifuge, gel electrophoresis, spectrophotometer, HPLC, Ph meter, flow cytometry, lamellar flow and microscopes (compound microscope, phase contrast microscope, inverted microscope, and fluorescence microscope) etc. were shown to the students. All the 22 students interacted with Dr. Deepak, Faculty, Dept. of Zoology and discussed about the applications of the techniques for their future research endeavors.

Day 1: 14th October, 2024

Under the able guidance, motivation and support of Principal Prof. (Dr.) Anita Kaushal, Department of Zoology of Post Graduate Government College for Girls, Sector-11, Chandigarh in collaboration with Central Poultry Development Organization, Northern Region, Chandigarh organized “One Week Poultry Training Program” on Poultry Management: Promoting Entrepreneurship Skills from 14th October to 18th October, 2024. The purpose of the workshop was to sensitize participants regarding poultry industry and its importance in promoting entrepreneurship skills. A total of 65 participants registered for the training workshop from different classes viz., B.Sc. I, B.Sc. III, M.Sc. I & M.Sc. II Zoology to get maximum benefit from the training programme. The day started with the inaugural address by Dr. Umesh Bharti (Head, Department of Zoology) and Dr. Rohit (Farm Manager, CPDO, Chandigarh) who provided the knowledge and great potential of the Poultry sector for providing employment opportunities to the youth and promoting women empowerment.

The speaker of the second session was Dr. Shivani Gupta, Assistant Professor in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11, Chandigarh. Her topic was Future Prospects of Poultry Industry. She discussed about the origin and advantages of poultry in today's Commercial Business. The speaker primarily focussed on importance of poultry farming in cottage industry, women empowerment, use of poultry feathers, uses of poultry manure, opportunities and constraints in farming systems, poultry as an experimental unit, production of biodiesel through feather fat and most important, the generation of employment. The session ended with a productive interaction with the participants.

Dr. Shivani Gupta, Assistant Professor in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11, Chandigarh

Day 2: 15th October, 2024

The session began with lecture by Dr Vineet Kumar, Farm Manager at CPDO, Chandigarh. Dr. Vineet said the rural poultry sector was contributing 30 per cent to national egg production and was generating employment opportunities to small farmers, including women. Dr Vineet said 'Chabro' was a specially developed rural variety for meat and egg production. It grows faster than desi birds and has better survivability and adaptability. Owing to attractive plumage, high FCR and brown egg production, it is sold at a premium price. Students were made aware about the hatchability of fertile eggs, feed conversion ratio, feed consumption ratio & many other areas related to their course. Students were also explained about the chemical composition of feed. The students who aspire to be entrepreneurs were highly motivated as they got an idea of setting up business in the area of poultry farming. It was an highly motivational and learning session for the participants.

Dr Vineet Kumar, Farm Manager at CPDO, Chandigarh

The second session of day 2 commenced with a lecture by Dr. Ravneet Kaur (Assistant Professor) in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11 Chandigarh. She spoke on topic ‘Use of embryonated chicken eggs as a model to study viruses’. The speaker primarily focussed on different routes of inoculation of viruses in chicken eggs, the detailed procedure of inoculation and harvesting of cultivated viruses to prepare vaccines against these pathogenic particles, to study the genetic make up for further research studies in laboratories. The process of candling and laboratory experimental videos was also shown to the participants to ensure the clarity of the procedure. The participants enthusiastically interacted with the speaker about the topic and cleared their queries.

Dr. Ravneet Kaur (Assistant Professor) in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11 Chandigarh

Day 3: 16th October, 2024

The session began with a lecture by Dr. Rohit, Farm manager in Central Poultry Development Organization, (Northern region), Chandigarh on ‘Hatchery management’. The lecture aimed to sensitize participants with different types of hatching methods, hatchery operations, grading, selection and traying of eggs and chicks. Students were shown different breeds of cock & hens like Red Cornish Male, Aseal male, black & white Pymouthrock & varieties of Japanese quail through videos. The participants were also acquainted with incubation requirements of various species of chicks and importance of hatchery hygiene and sanitation and candling methods. Dr. Rohit also highlighted the fact that CPDO is working for the development of Poultry Farms & provides all the technical requirements to the Poultry farmers of the Northern Region of India. He also told that CPDO (NR), Chandigarh also supplies “Parent Stocks” to various private & public Sectors for production of commercial hybrid chicks. The lecture ended with many queries of the participants that were wholeheartedly responded by the speaker.

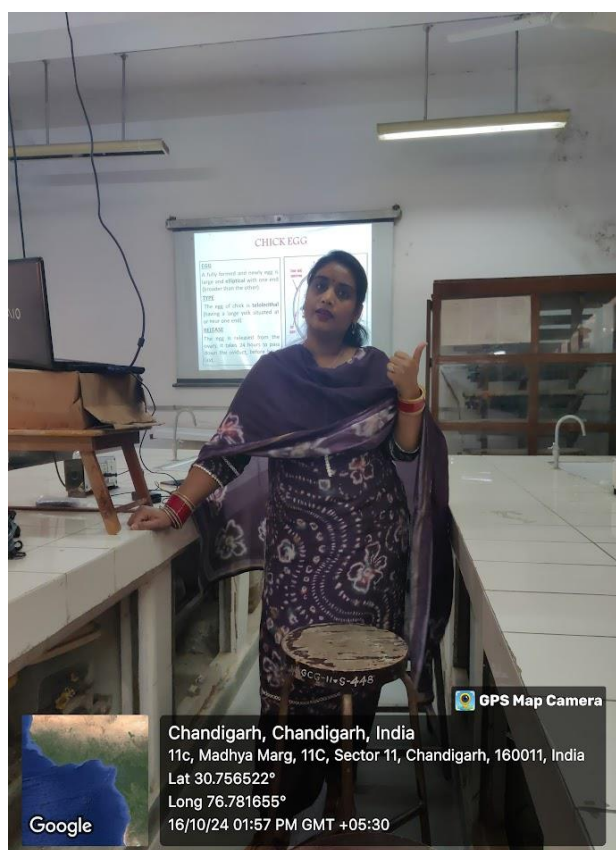

Welcome of Dr. Rohit, Fram Manager, CPDO, Chandigarh

Rohit, Farm manager in Central Poultry Development Organization
(Northern region), Chandigarh

In the second session, Dr. Sandaldeep Kaur, Assistant Professor in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11, Chandigarh, was the speaker. Her topic was ‘Chick Embryonic Development’. She discussed experiential knowledge based on theoretical learning about different developmental stages of chick embryos. Also, the development, timings and functions of extra-embryonic membranes of the chick embryo were shown through the audio visuals. The students were made familiar with the developmental pattern of different organs of the chick from day 1 till day 21 i.e. till the time of hatching.

Dr. Sandaldeep Kaur, Assistant Professor in Department of Zoology, PGGCG – 11, Chandigarh

Celebration of World Wetland Day 3rd Feb., 2025

The Department of Zoology celebrated World Wetland Day on 3rd Feb., 2025. As a part of this, the students of M.Sc. I (Zoology) visited Sukhna lake, Chandigarh which is artificial wetland created to preserve the biodiversity in the city. The students got the chance to watch migratory birds like great cormorant, Indian spot-billed duck, northern pintail, white-breasted waterhen, white-browed wagtail etc. During the visit students interacted with Sh. T.C Nautiyal, Chief Conservator of Forests, Chandigarh who emphasized the importance of wetlands and motive behind celebrating World Wetland Day. He motivated our students and Ms. Ishita won prize during a quiz contest. Apart from this, Mr. Kulbhushan Kumar, the butterfly man of Chandigarh was also there who explained the routes, basic patterns and concepts about bird migrations.

Inside the campus, department has also organized poster competition on theme: Protecting wetlands for our common future and human wellbeing. The students under graduation and post graduation participated in this. The posters were judged by Dr. Guneeta Chadha, Associate Professor, Dept. of Fine Arts, PGGCG-11 and Dr. Anurita, Associate Professor, Dept. of Botany, PGGCG-11. The prizes were given to the winners by the chief guest Prof. (Dr.) Anita Kaushal, Principal, PGGCG-11, Chandigarh. She congratulated all the winners and appreciated the efforts made by students for making beautiful posters. The event gave students to interact with experts of Wetlands conservation and to show case their talent in the form of posters. About 60 students participated in the event.

Following were the prize winners of Poster Making Competition:

Lecture on “Animal Cell Culture and its Applications”
11th February, 2025

Department of Zoology conducted a lecture on ‘Animal Cell Culture and its Applications’ by Dr. Ravinder Kumar (Assistant Professor & Chairperson, Department of Zoology, Panjab University, Chandigarh) on 11th February, 2025 as a part of Celebration of National Seminar organized by Science Society of the College. The session started with the formal introduction of the resource person by Dr. Ravneet Kaur, Assistant Professor, Zoology. Dr. Ravinder Kumar earned his Ph.D. from Postgraduate Institute of Medical Education and Research (PGIMER), Chandigarh. He has also served as a DST INSPIRE Faculty at Panjab University, Chandigarh for one year. His research interests include autoimmune disorders, Skin and Pigmentary Disorders, Animal Primary Cell Cultures and Animal Disease Models. With over 44 published research papers in renowned journals like British Journal of Dermatology, 10 book chapters and 02 Patents he has made significant contributions to the field of Clinical Sciences. He is a member of the Asian Society of Pigment Cell Research (APCR) and International Society for Pigment Cell Research. Awarded with DST-INSPIRE Faculty Award, he is presently the Chairman of Department of Zoology, PU, Chandigarh. A total of 100 students attended the session.

Welcome of the resource person, Dr. Ravinder Kumar

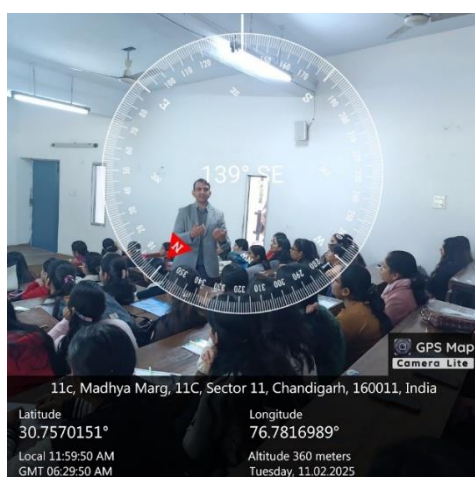

Introduction of the resource person, Dr. Ravinder Kumar

Dr. Ravinder gave a brief lecture on the main aims of the program - to provide a systematic knowledge on various aspects of Animal cell culture, familiarization with various types of cells, instrumentation (including inverted phase contrast fluorescence microscopy), different experimentation methods and good laboratory practices (GLPs) to be followed for performing effective and contamination-free animal cell culture. The lecture encompassed observation of morphology of various cells types namely kidney cells, lung cells and mouse fibroblast. The students benefitted FROM THE TALK that will help them in gaining confidence in handling animal cell culture and its techniques. They also gained both theoretical and practical knowledge which should motivate them to enter research in future.

Presentation by the speaker

Dr. Ravinder aimed to provide a complete knowledge of culturing mammalian cells. Further he tried to bridge the skill gap for the industry requirement in the field of Animal

Cell Culture. As there is a constant demand for well-trained animal cell culturists in academia, research and industry, this lecture provided a good exposure to students who want to take up cell culture as a career.

The talk was followed by an interactive session in which the students asked their queries enthusiastically. The Bachelor of Science and Masters of Science students and the faculty members of Zoology attended the talk. This session was an inspiration and motivated the students to explore deeper into the fields of clinical science. A memento was presented to Dr. Ravinder Kumar by Dr. Sushma Gupta, Head of Zoology Department as a token of appreciation and gratitude.

Jeevansh Society of Zoology Department in association of Nostalgia, Alumni Association, PGGCG-11 organized a talk on tips for CSIR NET preparation on 21st February, 2025. The talk was delivered by Ms. Jaspreet Kaur, Alumina, Department of Zoology, PGGCG-11. Ms. Jaspreet secured First Rank in Panjab University, Ph.D Entrance Exam in the subject of Zoology. She secured 95.46 percentile in Joint CSIR-UGC NET held in June, 2024 and qualified for admission to Ph.D. She shared the tips for CSIR NET preparation with M.Sc. students and highlighted the need for constant effort and in-depth study to crack the exam. This guidance session helped youngsters to acquire the knowledge, skills, and information necessary to identify the right options and explore various career options after bachelor's & postgraduation. Around 100 students attended the session that ended with a lot of queries by the students.

REPORT World Wild life Day (3RD MARCH, 2025)

World Wildlife Day was celebrated with great enthusiasm on March 3, 2024. The event aimed to raise awareness about wildlife conservation and promote creativity among students through engaging competitions like Eco Rangoli and Know Your Favourite Animal. About 70 students actively participated in the competition.

Activities & Competitions

1. Eco Rangoli Competition

- Participants created beautiful rangoli designs using eco-friendly materials such as flowers, leaves, seeds, and natural colors. The Themes included endangered animals, forest ecosystems, and marine life. The Judging criteria was mainly Creativity, Environmental Message, and Aesthetic Appeal.

Winners:

- 1st Prize: Vibhuti & KamalPreet B.Sc. II Non-Medical
- 2nd Prize: Kajal & Parul M.Sc. I
- 3rd Prize: Vaishali & Upasna B.Sc. I

2. Know Your Favourite Animal Activity

- Students presented interesting facts about their favourite animals through speeches, posters, and models. The Topics included habitat, conservation status, and threats faced by the species. Special recognition was given to the most informative and engaging presentations.

Winners:

- 1st Prize: Sneha Bisht B.Sc. I
- 2nd Prize: Isha Dutta B.Sc. I
- 3rd Prize: Tripti Thakur B.Sc. II
- Consolation Prize: Ruchi Panwar M.Sc. I Zoology

The event successfully highlighted the importance of wildlife conservation while encouraging creativity and learning. Students left with a deeper appreciation for nature and a commitment to protecting wildlife. The Principal, Prof. (Dr.) Anita Kaushal graced the occasion and awarded prizes to the winners. She congratulated all participants for their efforts and emphasized the importance of wildlife conservation.
